

SAVE STOCK IN TINLEY FARM FIRE

Fire of Unknown Origin Razes Several Farm Buildings

Fire of unknown origin broke out in a large barn on the August Wille farm about two miles west of Tinley Park Monday night.

All the members of the Wille family with the exception of a son had retired. The latter was reading a paper when he suddenly saw flames shooting through the roof of the barn. Hastily arousing the family, the alarm was given to the telephone operator at Tinley Park who did very splendid work in calling out the Tinley Park Fire Department and notifying the nearest neighbors to the Wille farm of the fire. In a very short time a large crowd of people was on the fire scene but the blaze had made such rapid headway that it was impossible to save the buildings. The attention of the fire fighters was then centered on saving the livestock. After quick and hard work 26 head of cattle and horses were saved, but two calves fell prey to the flames. Hay and other material in the barn was consumed by the flames.

The barn, a milk house and tool shed were destroyed by the fire. The dwelling and other outbuildings were saved. The loss is estimated between $5,000 and $6,000.

Farm Bureau Votes To Hold Service Day

A special committee of 200 farm bureau members will canvass all of Will county on Dec. 15, to determine the effectiveness of the bureau's services, the bureau board decided at its meeting Monday afternoon.

The day, to be called a "Service Day", the bureau voted, will see every member of the organization questioned to check on the thoroughness with which the bureau is carrying on its work, and to find out whether any extension of services is desired by the membership.

Along with each canvasser will travel a member of the women's committee, who will talk with the farm wives, to get their reaction to the proposal that a home bureau be established here, L. W. Brahm, farm adviser, said.

Check lists will be carried by the committee to find out the extent to which members avail themselves of the various services rendered by the bureau to them. The committee will meet for instruction Dec. 10.

THE WORLD AS IT LOOKS TO MARS

Postoffice Dept. Issues Christmas Mailing Instructions

Postmasters of this section are urging their patrons to do their Christmas mailing of gifts early and will appreciate it if the following suggestions are observed:

Do your Christmas shopping so that you can mail your gifts, greetings, and letters to relatives, friends and loved ones at least a week or 10 days before Christmas, according to the distance. This will not only make it certain that they are received before Christmas Day but will be a great aid to your postal service and to postal employees and enable them to spend the Christmas holiday with their families.

All parcels must be securely packed and wrapped. Use strong paper and heavy twine.

Sharp-pointed or sharp-edged instruments or tools must have points and edges fully guarded to prevent injury to clerks in handling or damage to other mail. Crate suitably or thoroughly wrap so that they cannot cut through the wrapping.

Books must have the edges well protected with stiff material and packed in a wooden or strong double-faced corrugated fibre - board box, double lined with the same material.

Articles easily broken or crushed must be securely packed and crated or boxed. Use liberal quantities of excelsior, or like material, in, around and between the articles and the outside container.

Glassware, fragile toys, or crockery must be packed so as to prevent the escape of particles or pieces if broken in transit.

Cigars: Ordinary boxes of cigars wrapped in paper only will not be accepted. Pack in a manner to prevent by shock or jar. Wrap in corrugated pastboard or similar material. Cigars must be in good shipping condition.

All articles easily broken or damaged must be plainly marked — "FRAGILE."

Parcels containing perishable articles shall be marked "Perishable" and packed in suitable container, according to contents. Articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery will not be accepted for mailing. Use special-delivery stamps to expedite delivery.

Addresses should be complete, with house number and name of street, post-office box, or rural-route number, and typed or plainly written in ink. A return card should be placed in the upper left hand corner of every piece of mail. If a tag is used, the address and return card should also be written on the wrapper for use if tag is lost, and a copy of the address should be enclosed inside the parcel. DO NOT MAIL CHRISTMAS GREETING CARDS IN RED, GREEN, OR OTHER DARK - COLORED ENVELOPES, OR IN VERY SMALL ENVELOPES.

Special Delivery Service

The use of a SPECIAL-DELIVERY stamp will assure delivery on Christmas Day, if mailed at the proper time. SPECIAL-DELIVERY SERVICE means immediate delivery at office of address. It is obtained by affixing a SPECIAL-DELIVERY stamp of the proper denomination, or its equivalent in ordinary stamps, in addition to the regular postage. When ordinary stamps are used, the words "SPECIAL-DELIVERY" must be written or printed on the envelope or wrapper immediately below but never on the stamps. It is urged that all mailers desiring immediate delivery of any matter mailed by them affix SPECIAL-DELIVERY stamps thereto. SPECIAL-DELIVERY is for speed and not for safety.

Special Handling—4th Class Matter Only

Parcels of fourth-class matter endorsed "Special Handling" will be given the most expeditious handling, transportation, and delivery practicable (but not special delivery) upon payment, in addition to the regular postage, of the proper charge.

3 Per Cent Sales Tax On Printing Held Illegal

The action started by the Chicago Graphic Arts Federation in May, 1935, to remove the application of the Retailers Occupation Tax to printing and lithographing has been successful.

The Supreme Court on October 27, 1936, rendered a 6 to 1 decision upholding the printing industry's contention that printing is a service and the Department of Finance did not request a rehearing during the 15 day period allowed by law.

Therefore, printing is no longer subject to the 3 per cent sales tax.

It is of interest to note that 261 establishments in Chicago and Illinois were parties to the action and in a few days will receive checks for their share of the Escrow Fund now on deposit in two Chicago banks. The sum of $261,000 will be disbursed to those progressive printers whose co-operation made this victory possible.

Mr. Justice Shaw delivered the following opinion on the printers sales tax case:

The H. G. Adair Printing Company, a corporation, and others, filed a complaint in the circuit court of Cook County against the Director of Finance and the Attorney General of the State to enjoin them from instituting or prosecuting any suit or proceeding against the complainants to compel them to make returns to the Department of Finance of gross receipts from their vocation of printers by reason of the provisions of the Retailers' Occupation Tax act and Rule 36 of the Department of Finance, adopted in pursuance of the act. A motion by the defendants to dismiss the complaint was overruled and the injunction was issued. This appeal is from that final judgment.

The trial court properly held that this case is controlled by BURGESS CO. v. AMES, 359 Ill. 427, as there is no substantial difference in principle. In that case, referring to blue-printers, we said: "The paper is destroyed when the exposure is made, and it has no further use or value to anyone other than the person interested in that particular reproduction." The same is true of the work carried on by appellees. Copy for printed matter is delivered to them, and in the process of carrying out their contract of service they use ink for the purpose of destroying plain paper so far as its commercial value is concerned. From that time it is of no use or value to any person other than the one for whom the printing is done. It should be apparent that letter-heads, circulars, mail-order catalogues, printed briefs for an attorney, or any other special printed matter, would be without commercial value, and it follows that the printer is engaged only in service. The appellees are not engaged in the business of selling tangible personal property but in the business of printing—one of the graphic arts.

The trial judge followed and properly applied the previous holding of this court, and the judgment entered by him in the circuit court of Cook County will be affirmed.

Judgment affirmed.

Mr. Justice Wilson, dissenting.

Parcels for Foreign Countries

In view of climatic conditions, the length of the journey, and the numerous handlings and risks of concussion to which parcels for foreign destinations are unavoidably subjected en route, the importance of securely and substantially packing every parcel cannot be stressed too strongly. Packages should be packed in canvas, or similar material, heavy wrapping paper, waterproof paper lined with linen gauze, double-faced corrugated boxes, solid fibre boxes or cases, thick cardboard boxes, or strong wooden boxes made of material at least a half inch thick. Boxes with lids screwed or nailed on may be used and bags closed by sewing, as long as they conform to the other conditions prescribed. ORDINARY PASTEBOARD CONTAINERS ARE WHOLLY INADEQUATE.

Sportsmen's League Active In Protecting Property and Game

The Will County Sportsmen's League is waging war on hunters who are violating its rulings. At Mokena Deputies Albert Hentsch and Alfred Heiman arrested four hunters Sunday on the Fred Schiel property west of Mokena for trespassing and failure to have a hunting license which was the case of two men arrested. At first they were taken to the home of Judge John Schultz at Mokena, but as the judge was not at home, the men were taken before a Frankfort Justice, but the case was continued for several days.

The hunters were from Chicago. Most of the farms in and around Mokena and Frankfort are posted and no hunting is allowed. A number of farms are being used for game preserves, hence the strict enforcement of no hunting on these premises.

Household Questions

Print your child's name inside his rubbers when he goes to school. This will make it possible for his teacher to identify them, which would otherwise be impossible to do where there are so many rubbers of about the same size.

When making mayonnaise, stir the beaten eggs into cold vinegar and when it is boiled it will not curdle, as may be the case when eggs are added to hot vinegar.

Cottage cheese, mixed with orange marmalade, grape jelly or raspberry jam makes a good filling for graham bread sandwiches. The combinations are tasty as well as nutritious.

To prevent the delivery boy from tracking dirt across the kitchen floor place a shelf at the back door on which he can place packages.

If cinnamon toast is served frequently, it pays to mix some cinnamon and sugar and keep it in a shaker so that it can be used quickly.

To protect hybrid tearose bushes during the cold winter months mound up soil around bushes to the height of one foot just before the ground freezes.

Borax whitens napkins. Use a tablespoon of borax in each two quart of water used for rinsing.

A teaspoon of granulated sugar added to the water in which turnips are boiled removes the strong turnip taste some object to.

Before storing winter cabbage wrap each head in an old newspaper. This will keep the cabbage crisp and green much longer.

To remove the feathers from wild ducks, dip them in boiling water, then wrap in a thick cloth. The feathers are steamed loose in a very few minutes and the "pins" will give little or no trouble.

Valueless Comparisons

A COMPARISON may seem more creditable than it really is. To say of a man that his word is as good as his bond may appear quite complimentary; but when it is known that his bond is worthless, the comparison loses its value.

To say that a man is as godly every day of the week as he is on Sunday is little to his credit when he is known to spend his Sundays drinking and gambling. Only when the standard has real value are comparisons with the standard of substantial credit.

Worthless Rule

It is a poor rule that works no good either way.

"I wouldn't want to impose like that on a decent father-in-law, Henry; it'll be bad enough for any man to have you hitched into his family. Lift him out of here, boys—give me a hand. We've got to get him up to the office. What's that noise out in the corral?"

"Nothin' at all," blustered McAlpin, struggling along the gangway with Sawdy's feet. "Just a few bucks from the Reservation, Initiatin' Barney Rebstock into the tribe. Henry, you're heavier than a ton of bricks. I can't hold on much longer."

Not until the doctor had nearly finished dressing the cowman's leg did the wounded man begin to tell the story. And he had hardly been made ready to send to the hospital when John Lefever and Bob Scott appeared at the box office door with Barney Rebstock, white and scared.

"What's a-matter with the rest of you?" exclaimed Carpy testily, as he eyed the three.

"Why, Barney," explained Lefever blandly, "fell off his horse a few minutes ago and broke his wrist. Fix him up, will you, doc?"

"What the devil's this cutting and squawking all about?" asked Carpy of Lefever later that night.

The two were seated in the doctor's office about midnight. "Doc," explained Lefever, "the boys are pretty sore about Bill Denison's ranch house gettin' burned down. The day after the fire Barney Rebstock left two hundred with Harry Boland. Where'd he get it? The boys made up their minds to find out. Sawdy got him down to McAlpin's barn, but when he began to pump Barney the cuss showed fight. You know Henry. He'd never used a gun on a shrimp with a knife. So the rest of us, waitin' in the corral, carried Barney out of the barn, showed him a rope by the light of the lantern, and asked him how about that fire."

Carpy shook his head. "Dangerous business, John. Did you string him up?"

"Hell, no. I hadn't no more'n adjusted the noose and asked him was it comfortable under his ear, when he told the whole story. McCrossen hired him to do it for Van Tammel."

Carpy muttered an angry epithet. "—gave him two hundred and promised two more when the job was done. What do you think of that, Doc?"

Carpy was silent a moment. "Roten business. But what's the good of stringing Barney up? He'll deny everything. That ain't the only thing. John. The old devil couldn't be convicted. But it would make a nasty mess to try Van Tammel for hiring Rebstock—and where would the shame land? On Jane Van Tammel. And she head over heels in love with Bill Denison, and he with her—what can be done?"

"You fellows ought've asked me that afore you began stringing Barney up," added Carpy, after a moment's thought, "there's only one thing I know of you can do now. Bill Denison is the man most interested in the situation the way it stands."

"I guess we can't get away from that," admitted Lefever.

"Lay the whole mess before Bill and ask him what's to be done."

Lefever was doubtful. "I don't know what the boy will say, doc."

"And I don't care a hang," retorted Carpy. "That's all they'll get from me."

Next morning Carpy was making his rounds at the hospital. In the corridor he encountered Lefever. John took off his hat and scratched his head. "Well, doc," he exclaimed.

"Well," echoed Carpy, "what you doing up here?"

"We talked it over."

"Who's we?"

"Why, Sawdy, McAlpin, Bob Scott, Ben Page, 'n' me. We talked it over 'n' concluded to follow your talk—put it up to Bill."

"Sit down there in the office till I see him myself."

"O. K., Doc. I'll go in and set with Sawdy."

Dr. Carpy opened the door of Denison's room. Close to Denison, who sat with bandaged eyes, in an armchair, stood Jane, arranging some briar roses in a vase.

Denison was fingering, rather nervously, his eye bandage.

Jane turned. "Oh, here's Dr. Carpy, Bill. Good-morning, doctor!"

"Any morning's a good morning when a man can set eyes on an up-an'-coming girl like you," said Carpy. "Bill," he continued brusquely, "you're too slow. If I had as good a sight for sore eyes as she is, right close to me, I'd take a peek at her if I had to go blind the rest of my life."

Jane turned away with a protesting smile. Denison looked confused. "Say!" exclaimed Carpy suspiciously, "what's been going on here? What have you two been up to? Bill," he said suddenly, "you've been moving that bandage!"

"Why, I did lift the bandage for a few seconds," confessed Denison. "What for?"

"To look at the roses." "Bill, you're a blamed liar. You lifted it to look at this girl—didn't he, Jane?" Carpy thundered the question in his most aggressive manner.

"How do I know, doctor?" asked Jane demurely.

"Bill," he said, sitting down by his patient, "tell me just what and how much did you see when you lifted that bandage."

"Doc, I'll confess, I couldn't see much—just a blur."

"And your eyes ache and sting now, don't they?"

"They burn a little, Doc."

"I'll say they burn a little! How many mornings has this been going on?"

Denison was silent. "Only yesterday and today, doctor," confessed Jane, hesitatingly.

"Well, don't try it any more," said Carpy to Denison. "If you do, I'll put you back in a dark room. I only let you out here on the theory you'd behave yourself."

Carpy picked up his bag. He was part way down the corridor when he was waylaid by Lefever.

CHAPTER XI

"Come into Sawdy's room a minute, Doc," pleaded Lefever. "He'd like to talk this thing over with you."

Sawdy, propped up in bed, led the talk. But the talk was not to Dr. Carpy's liking. "Yes," he muttered scornfully, "I expected that's the way it would work out. If there's a mean job to be done in this town, put it on me."

But the pair now working on the doctor's sympathies knew their victim pretty well and, having once brought him to refuse their request, needed only to persevere in order to make him grant it. This brought Carpy back that afternoon to Denison, alone.

"Doctor," said the injured man, "I couldn't be sure this morning when Jane was here whether you were talking to encourage her and me, or whether you really think you can save my sight."

"Bill, I was honest in what I said," returned Carpy. "I believe and hope I can save your eyes. But it's not all in my hands; I told you that, too. If Nature's willing, we're going to get through all right—does that satisfy you?"

"That's all I can ask, Doc."

"Bill," said the doctor suddenly, "Sawdy and Lefever have found out who burned the ranch house—and why it was set afire."

"Who was it?" asked Denison violently.

"Keep cool, Bill; keep cool. It's a mean mess."

Denison was on fire. "Why don't you tell the story?" he demanded angrily. "What did they do?"

"First," responded Carpy, determined not to be rushed, "they found that Barney Rebstock had a pocketful of money since the fire. They lured him down to McAlpin's barn. When Sawdy began to question him, he showed fight. The upshot of it was, the two went at it hammer and tongs in a box stall."

"Let Me Put That Bandage Back Where It Belongs."

Barney had a knife—he drove it through Sawdy's leg, and Sawdy was choking him to death when McAlpin and the boys heard the noise and stepped in to save the thief. Then they took him out behind the barn till he told his story.

"Mind you, this now is Barney's story—might or might not be the facts. He claimed he was paid two hundred dollars to set the house afire, with a promise of two hundred more after he'd burned it."

Carpy paused. He thought the sickening truth must have already begun to penetrate Denison's mind; it had not.

"Who," asked Denison, with a fell epithet, "paid him to burn me up?"

"As Barney tells it," continued Carpy deliberately, "it was between McCrossen and Gus Van Tammel."

Denison sprang from his chair. He tore the bandage from his sightless eyes. From his disfigured lips there poured a stream of bitter words.

"Not too fast, Bill—not too fast. Remember there'll be another to suffer like hell if this thing ever gets out."

"Oh, I know it must never get out. But that man! Doc, he ought to be roped and dragged to death by a wild horse. If ever a robber and a thief and a murderer deserved stringing up, that man does. He's killed, or had killed, every man that ever stood in his way of stealing land or cattle, or anything a man had that he wanted."

"Cool off, Bill, cool off."

Denison sat down with his hands over his face. It wrung Carpy's heart to see him suffer. "I can't Doc. I can't!"

"Yes, you can, damn you, and you will. Let me put that bandage back where it belongs—and you keep it there. Don't talk about eyesight unless you want it back. Where the hell do I come in? What am I getting out of this?" It was a battle between two strong wills, and it was long in the waging. But when Carpy, wiping the sweat from his forehead and, himself almost unstrung, left Denison's side, his patient had ridden out the storm and had promised quiet till the two could think of what might be done, pledging in the interval mutual and absolute secrecy.

Secrecy, however well pledged, grows more difficult to control in proportion to the number of persons pledged.

Carpy swore Sawdy and Lefever to it very easily. McAlpin and Ben Page were warned that if the story leaked out, it might become unpleasant for both. As for Bob Scott, no one was ever known to worm a secret out of him; Barney, of course, dared not talk.

Yet it will easily be understood that too many people had the story; and only the continual efforts of Dr. Carpy in silencing, through threats of what might happen to them, one or another of the conspirators kept it under cover.

Jane, after the usual storm with her father, who knew what she was doing, rode next morning into town to make her visit to the hospital.

Denison was a poor actor. In his endeavor to make Jane feel there had been nothing to upset him, he was over solicitous. Carpy did better; but he was compelled to admit that Denison had not been doing quite so well—since Jane could see that for herself.

Her father continued taciturn and aloof. Jane knew she was defying him by continuing to visit Denison, yet being of much the same tenacious will as her father himself, she reckoned little of it.

But her visits and ministrations to the injured neighbor of Gunlock Ranch became so frequent, and she herself was so wholly indifferent to comment, that the situation became food for local gossip. Here was Van Tammel a deadly enemy of Denison's, with his daughter openly showing a very special interest in Denison's condition at the hospital—carrying to him delicacies and spending with him half her time in town.

Things were at this pass when one day Van Tammel told his daughter he must go to Medicine Bend on some bank business. Jane knew that he was not able to make the trip—Carpy had told her more than once that the old man's life hung by a thread. She pleaded with her father, found out what the business was, and offered to go in his stead.

She took the morning train for Medicine Bend, secured the further time on his notes at the bank, spent the night at the Mountain House, and took the afternoon train west for Sleepy Cat.

The Pullman cars were crowded. Jane was forced to find a seat in a day coach. Here she placed her handbag in the seat beside her, bought a magazine, and resigned herself to a long afternoon and evening.

Two men had taken the seat directly behind her. Jane resumed her reading until in the conversation between the two men her attention was attracted by catching the name of Bill Denison.

Her curiosity soon aroused, it was easy to follow the drift of their talk. Presently she heard mention of her father's name. Aroused now to keen interest, Jane was torn between the feeling that she ought not to listen and the impulse that she must.

"Of course, nobody can prove it," were the words she heard. "I didn't say they could. That old bird knows too well how to cover his tracks. But everybody knows how he deceived Denison's brother when he lived there—tried to buy him out, then scare him out, and then smoke him out. The old devil has been crazy ever since he owned Gunlock to get hold of that little Spring Ranch. Why? Account of the water. It's the biggest spring in the hills. Now that he's back from the hospital, the first thing he thinks of is to get hold of that spring."

Jane listened with bated breath.

"Why, it's common talk in Sleepy Cat," the narrator went on, "that he paid Barney Rebstock to set Bill's ranch house afire and came damned near burning Bill up in it."

Her heart stopped beating as she heard the dreadful recital, delivered as calmly as the merest bit of current gossip would be discussed on a street corner.

"According to what I hear," continued the narrator, "Sawdy and some of Bill's friends choked the story out of Barney. Sawdy got cut up in the fracas with him—Sawdy was laid up in the hospital for a month. Barney's a mean devil with a knife."

The train was pulling into Sleepy Cat. Jane, rousing herself from a stupor, her breath choking her, her heart ready to burst with every beat, staggered to her feet, dazed, and supporting herself along the aisle with her hands alternately on the backs of the seats, stepped blindly down to the platform.

Bull Page, who was in with the team and buckboard to take her home, reached for her handbag. "No, Bull," Jane said quietly. "I'm not going out tonight."

Lesson for November 29

CHRISTIAN BROTHERHOOD

LESSON TEXT—Philemon 4-20.

GOLDEN TEXT—There is neither bond nor free...for ye all are one in Christ Jesus. Galatians 3:28.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul's Shortest Letter.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul's Shortest Letter.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Slave Becomes a Brother.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christ Transforming Social Relationships.

Letters are always interesting, and especially so when they bring good news. The brief epistle to Philemon is one of unusual charm. Paul writes to Philemon, a Christian brother in Colosse, to inform him that he is sending back to him Onesimus, who was apparently Philemon's brother (v. 16) but who had through misfortune and sin (vv. 18, 19) become a slave. Evidently, he had stolen from Philemon what he needed to enable him to run away, and had ultimately come to Rome.

Having reached this great city he no doubt was satisfied that he had placed himself beyond the reach of anyone who knew him. But he had reckoned without God, who not only knew where he was (see Ps. 139: 7-12) but also what he needed. He is brought into touch with the imprisoned apostle, Paul, and through his ministry the fugitive slave becomes a "brother beloved in the Lord" (v. 16). How marvelous is the grace of God, and how patiently he deals with those who attempt to flee even from his love!

Our study of this epistle centers around four great words.

I. Appreciation (vv. 4-8).

After an introductory word Paul speaks of his love for Philemon, his appreciation of the latter's hospitality, his fellowship, and his faith.

Is Paul flattering his friend in order that he may grant his request? Certainly not, but he is expressing his true feelings toward a faithful brother. We need a revival of Christian courtesy and appreciation of one another.

The man who thinks that he must show that he is true to Christ by treating others with boorish rudeness needs to learn a new lesson from the Lord himself, and from his Word.

II. Consideration (vv. 9-14).

Paul could have kept silent, and encouraged Onesimus to remain with him. He needed help (v. 13) but without the consent of Philemon he would not keep Onesimus (v. 14). At the same time he reminds Philemon very tactfully that he owes them both loving consideration.

We have here a striking illustration of the candor and considerate thoughtfulness which should characterize the dealings of Christians with one another. We need to put away careless trampling upon the rights of others in order that our work may go forward.

III. Brotherhood (vv. 15-16).

The fact of regeneration does not change a man's social status so far as the world is concerned, but within the circle of God's household he becomes a "brother beloved." Let us look less at the accidents of circumstance, education, or birth, which differ and rather magnify the family relationship, for all who are born again are brethren.

IV. Partnership (vv. 17-20).

Paul counted Philemon not only a benefactor and a brother, but a partner in the great enterprise of God on earth. Partners share both joys and sorrows, gains and losses. They stand by in the hour of need, they plan and labor, weep and rejoice together. One wonders what might be accomplished for Christ if all Christians would accord one another even the ordinary considerations of partnership.

It should be noted in closing that verses 17 and 18 present an illustration of the great doctrine of imputation. The wrong of Onesimus was to be charged to Paul, and Paul's standing with Philemon is the basis of his acceptance of Onesimus. Even so the righteousness of Christ is imputed to the believer, because our sins have been laid upon him. What a wonderful Saviour!

A Mother's Love

No language can express the power and beauty and heroism and majesty of a mother's love. It shrinks not where man cowers, and grows stronger where man faints, and over the wastes of worldly fortune sends the radiance of its quenchless fidelity like a star in heaven.—E. H. Chapin.

Spare Hours

Bind together your spare hours by the cord of some definite purpose, and you know not how much you may accomplish. Gather up the fragments of time, that nothing may be lost.—W. A. Taylor.

Humble Deeds

The humblest deeds, prompted by a pure and unselfish motive, measure larger in God's sight than apparently much greater deeds which are done to be seen of men and for the aggrandizement of self.—Gunn.

Work Is As Salt
Work is the very salt of life, not only preserving it from decay, but also giving it tone and flavor.—H. Black.

Constipated 30 Years

"For thirty years I had stubborn constipation. Sometimes I did not go for four or five days. I also had awful gas bloating, headache and pains in the back. Adierika helped right away. Now I eat sausage, bananas, pie, anything I want and never feel better. I sleep soundly all night and enjoy life."

—Mrs. Mabel Schott.

If you are suffering from constipation, sleeplessness, sour stomach and gas bloating, there is quick relief for you in Adierika. Many report action in thirty minutes after taking just one dose. Adierika gives complete action, cleaning your bowel tract where ordinary laxatives do not even reach.

Dr. H. L. Shoul, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierika checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your bowels a real cleansing with Adierika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and stubborn constipation. Leading Druggists.

YOU CAN THROW CARDS IN HIS FACE ONCE TOO OFTEN

WHEN you have those awful cramps, when your nerves are all on edge—don't take it out on the man you love.

Your husband can't possibly know how you feel for the simple reason that he is a man.

A three-quarter wife may be no wife at all if she nags her husband seven days out of every month.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three or four years of life.

1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

"I want a ring," stated the second customer. "Engagement ring, platinum with a diamond about two carats."

ORLAND PARK SCHOOL NEWS

The Achievement club program last Thursday night was a success in every respect. There was a good-sized audience of parents, relatives, and friends, and everyone enjoyed the program.

Members of the Grammar Room began the program with an Achievement club business meeting which they conducted according to the conventional rules of order. The motto of the club is: "Learn to do by doing." Officers for 1936-37 are the following:

President, Buddy Cox.
Vice President, Eleanor Knox.
Secretary, Eugene Uthe.
Treasurer, Mildred Doctor.

After the business meeting, the boys from the Upper Grade Room sang: "Rangerr's Song" and "Billy Boy," two greatly enjoyed selections.

Then the Primary and Intermediate Rooms presented an acrostic entitled: "Happy Thanksgiving." The little folks did very well with this. They also rendered: "Turkey in Our Garden," "Thanksgiving at Grandpa's" and "Thanksgiving Day." The teachers, Misses Kettering and Schmadeke deserve much credit for the training of the children.

Following the smaller children's part of the program the audience was favored with three songs by the Upper Grade Chorus: "Come, Ye Thankful People," "Shortin' Bread" and "Now the Day Is Over." Miss Van Camp is to be congratulated upon the work she is doing with her young people in music.

Miss Nellie McMahon gave a short talk in which she praised the efforts of both students and teachers. Miss McMahon, our Assistant County Superintendent, is always a welcome guest.

Immediately after Miss McMahon's remarks, the high school students presented their one-act play, which was directed by Miss Priest. The girls and the one boy have received many compliments upon the way they played their character parts. Miss Priest and members of the cast wish to extend their thanks to the following people for helping with stage properties: Mrs. Tom Cooper, Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Reish, Mr. Heiting and Mrs. S. Taylor.

The program was concluded with "The Countess Donies," and "Desert Lullaby," songs by the Upper Grade girls.

Upon conclusion of the program everyone was invited to visit the different rooms in the building to observe the exhibits representing work which has been done so far this year. The High School had exhibits in General Science, Mechanical Drawing, History and Sewing.

Plans are being made for a Christmas program. Details concerning this will be printed next week. The play: "A Christmas Carol," is being considered for presentation by the high school students.

The following high school students have perfect records of attendance to date: Marie Heiting, Norman Yunker, Ruth Arnold, Sherman Knox, Mae Reish, Bernice Rust and Jeanette Toppen.

Gordon Doctor was absent on account of a cold Monday. It is rather difficult for the high school people to have any reveries about their Thanksgiving dinners, as they are too busy this week preparing for six week's tests, most of which they must write the day before Thanksgiving. However, the students can forget about the tests Thursday, whereas Mr. Linden and Miss Priest will have all those papers to be corrected! However, we hope that they and everybody else will enjoy good dinners.

The American Red Cross has been carrying on a campaign in the school for the past week. Red Cross pins have been given to all students who have contributed to Red Cross funds. Tuesday afternoon, three moving pictures, "Red Cross, the Mother of All," "Red Cross to the Rescue," and "Shirley Temple in the Red Cross," were shown to school pupils, teachers and friends. Mr. Linden extended thanks to Mrs. Knox and Mr. Barnett for bringing the pictures as a benefit for the school.

We are glad to have Lila Cooper back again after three days absence. Van Yunker and Betty Cannon have not missed a day of school this year.

Lee Roy Yates was absent from school last week on account of having his tonsils removed.

Europe had more insane monarchs in power during the last half of the Eighteenth century than in any other similar period in its history. During this time nine of them mounted the thrones of seven countries. An interesting one was Abdul Hamid I, who reigned over Turkey from 1773 to 1789, writes Alan B. "THANKS A MILLION" FOR MORE THAN A MILLION

America has bought 1,130,000 Chevrolets during the past twelve months, thereby giving Chevrolet the greatest year in its history and the greatest measure of buyer preference it has ever enjoyed.

CHEVROLET The builders of Chevrolet are thankful for many things, but most of all for the warm friendship of the American people. And so again at this Thanksgiving season we say, "Thank you, America," for you have given Chevrolet a measure of good-will without parallel in the annals of modern industry.

Consider, for a moment, all that you have done to inspire Chevrolet's appreciation during the past twelve months:

You have purchased 1,130,000 Chevrolets; you have made Chevrolet your favorite car for the seventh time in the past ten years; you have given Chevrolet strong preference in every section of the country; you have conferred this same high honor upon Chevrolet trucks by purchasing more than 205,000 commercial units; you have made 1936 the most successful year in all Chevrolet history.

And now, to climax these expressions of friendship, you are displaying even more marked preference for the new Chevrolet for 1937.

It is difficult to express adequate appreciation for gifts so great and so generous as these.

All we can say is, "Thanks a million" for more than a million cars in 1936; and all we can do is offer you the still finer Chevrolet of 1937 in return for the finest friendship ever bestowed upon any motor car manufacturer.

THIS WEEK

11 Husbands, 1 Bachelor
Fish at 12,000 Feet
Measuring Beauty
Homes and Automobiles

In New York Mr. Reisman took his young twenty-three-year-old secretary to live with his family. When he was sitting with her in his automobile one night, after midnight, his thirty-five-year-old wife, of whom he is said to have grown tired, came out with a revolver and killed the secretary. There is no news in this, except that Mrs. Reisman is to be tried by a jury of 11 husbands and one bachelor. It would seem that one or two women might have been placed on the jury; if a man were tried by 11 wives and one spinster, he might complain. However, if all 11 husbands should read their consciences frankly they might make the best possible jury for the accused woman.

The highest navigable body of water on earth is Lake Titicaca, 12,000 feet above sea level, belonging to Bolivia and Peru.

Uncle Sam has agreed to send experts and show those countries how to stock the lake with fish.

Some physicist might answer this question:

"Will the fish be affected by the high altitude as human beings are affected, or would the fact that water (with its ball-bearing molecules) is not compressible keep the fish from knowing whether the atmospheric pressure is great or slight?"

An English professional beauty, Rosemary Andree, convinced that her figure is the world's most beautiful, is challenged by an American girl named Mardee Hoff. Miss Hoff's friends say her figure is better than any since the Venus Accrue was cut out of marble. Mardee Hoff's figures might interest you: Age twenty-one; Titian hair; bust 34; hips, 36; waist, 24; thigh, 19½; ankle 8.

Nothing is said about what is back of the forehead, or the size of the head, but both are probably satisfactory. Science says, "Intelligence goes with beauty," and that is probably true, except when intelligence is spoiled by flattery.

You read with horror about the number of deaths by automobiles on highways, and then read with surprise the report that 34,500 persons were killed in their homes by accident last year, making the home about as dangerous as the highway. The real danger is carelessness. The fault is with human beings, not with automobiles.

Men that work in crowded rooms, travel in crowded trains, sleep with their windows closed, may learn something from the sad fate of vast schools of salmon crowding in to spawn. Their great numbers exhausted the oxygen in the water and they floated on the surface dead.

An ancient Jewish writer said: "The blood is the life." He might have added: "Oxygen is the life of the blood."

Children should be taught that from the cradle.

Members of congress are bothered by thousands of letters from advocates of the Townsend plan, asking:

"Will you vote to give everybody past sixty $200 a month pension, or will you not?"

Doctor Townsend says many congressmen have promised to support the bill. You would ask: Have they told how to get the $8,000,000,000 that the Townsend plan would cost every year?

The Republican party decides to hold its 1936 convention in Cleveland, casting 54 votes for Cleveland, 39 for Chicago and 6 for Kansas City. Each city had offered $150,000 as its contribution to convention expenses. The delegates will spend more than that, and then there is the glory.

Republican delegates will see a beautiful city on a beautiful lake, and find themselves in a congenial Ohio atmosphere that has produced Presidents.

In Peking, Chinese students, young men and women, "stormed through the streets" demanding that China defy Japan and fight to prevent further seizure of Chinese territory. Many students were wounded, 10 killed, 20 Chinese girls in the front rank defied bullets.

Students shouting "Down with Japanese Imperialism!" cannot do the work of airplanes, tanks and explosives. No use in shouting if you are not prepared for war.

Those who have doubted that this earth is round, including one colored clergyman in the South, who writes frequently on the subject, would be convinced by photographs of the earth taken in the stratosphere, 72,000 feet up. Forty thousand square miles of the earth's surface appear on the photograph as a section of the sphere.

RED CROSS AID TO
MORE THAN 500,000
DISASTER VICTIMS

Large Urban Areas Devastated
As Elements Hit 20 States
East of Mississippi

"The number of disaster victims assisted by the Red Cross during the fiscal year ended June 30, was more than four times the number aided in the previous twelve month period," Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman, said in commenting on highlights of the annual report just issued. "Over 131,000 families were given food, clothing, shelter and medical care, and thousands of homes were rebuilt or repaired by the Red Cross to enable them to carry on."

Pointing to the many-sided problems created by the wide variety of types of disasters which occurred during the year, Admiral Grayson said, "The Red Cross sent hundreds of trained workers into 39 states to meet the many exigencies of catastrophes which included earthquake, epidemic, explosion, fire, hurricane, ice lock, landslide, refugee relief, shipwreck, tornado and typhoon. The Red Cross took charge at the scenes of 105 domestic disasters of major severity."

The report emphasized the marked value of Government-Red Cross cooperation when disaster strikes, giving as example the flight of Army bombing planes which dropped Red Cross food to marooned refugees at Reno, Pennsylvania, during the Spring floods. More than 10,000 persons were rescued from the second floors of homes in Wilkes-Barre and Kingston through Coast Guard-Red Cross cooperation at the height of these same floods.

"Government agencies and relief groups were of invaluable assistance to Red Cross relief forces at all times," Admiral Grayson stated.

The complete resources of Red Cross leadership, training and disaster experience were brought into play by the Spring floods and tornadoes which took so heavy a toll of life and property in eastern and southern states this year, the annual report reveals. The Red Cross aided 77,000 families in 14 flooded states east of the Mississippi and 6,000 families in 6 tornado hit states south of the Mason-Dixon line in this one operation.

"Never before have as many metropolitan centers borne the brunt of attack by wind and water within a single year, challenging Red Cross preparedness and efficiency by so wide a variety of pressing human problems," Chairman Grayson said.

In its work of relief to disaster sufferers the Red Cross expended in excess of $5,200,000 for the year. The report points out that this figure does not include assistance given in 27 lesser disasters with a total of 2,000 persons aided, and adds that additional millions will be used to "clean up" Spring floods and tornadoes.

"Numerous local disaster situations occurring during the year were met by Red Cross chapter funds and manpower," Admiral Grayson said. "In each major relief operation undertaken the great army of Red Cross volunteers aided trained workers with the task of rehabilitating those without resources who had suffered losses."

"The Red Cross disaster relief service is one of many Red Cross activities supported by the American people through membership at the time of Roll Call, held each year from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving."

Red Cross Potential Life
Savers Number Nearly
2,000,000

First aid and life saving certificates issued by the American Red Cross since the start of the service 26 years ago now number 1,888,702. During the past year the Red Cross qualified 222,693 persons in first aid and taught water safety and rescue methods to 80,961.

This army of First Aiders and Life Savers is one of the great safety factors in the nation. They are trained to give immediate first aid at the scene of accident, thus saving many lives and preventing permanent injury. Red Cross training includes skill in treating for shock, splinting fractures, checking arterial bleeding, applying artificial respiration, towing drowning persons to safety, and in the safe handling of boat and canoe.

Red Cross volunteers, framework of the organization, last year gave a total of 1,707,220 hours of service, producing 685,074 garments, 4,356,719 surgical dressings, 16,773 Christmas bags for soldiers, sailors and marines serving overseas. Perhaps the most important undertaking of these generous contributors to the public welfare is the making of braille books for the blind, with 342,000 pages printed during the past twelve months.

Of the 16,500,000 school children enrolled in the Junior Red Cross societies of 52 nations, more than half are members of the American Junior Red Cross representing 34,882 schools in this country.

Red Cross chapters aiding the needy in their communities act on approximately 22,674 family problems each month.

Help Us to Help Others

"Now I Lay Me —"

This child was hurt when a tornado struck Tupelo, Mississippi, necessitating medical and nursing care for hundreds—care which in many cases could not have been given without Red Cross assistance. It is a fine tribute to the organization that the young beneficiaries of its health and relief services invariably place themselves in the hands of the Red Cross with a completely confident, "Now I lay me—"

Biggest Steer—3,100 Pounds of Beef

"Big Jim," once owned by the late Will Rogers, is the biggest steer in the world, weighing 3,100 pounds. Rogers raised Jim from a calf, then sold him and gave the proceeds to the Salvation Army. His present owners will display him at the Texas Centennial Exposition, opening in Dallas June 6, and turn over the admission profits to the Salvation Army's Home for Boys and Girls at Lytton, Cal., long a favorite of Rogers.

Red Cross Nurses Combat
Disease on Wide Front

At the close of the fiscal year ended June 30, there were 673 Red Cross nurses bettering health conditions and caring for the sick in 604 communities. These Red Cross public health nurses cared for a total of 233,616 persons during the year and made more than a million visits on their behalf.

The annual report of the American Red Cross states further that these nurses cooperated with doctors in examining 671,057 school and pre-school children, with 342,861 physical defects found and curative treatment arranged in 209,080 cases.

In 979 Red Cross chapters 1,733 graduate nurses taught Red Cross home hygiene and care of the sick, issuing certificates to 53,126 persons completing the courses. In addition, 1,777 Red Cross reserve nurses were called upon during the year for disaster and epidemic control work.

England's lord high chancellor, Viscount Hailsham, read the king's speech, written by the king's cabinet. The king's references to steps "urgently necessary to safeguard my empire" are recommended to this government. We haven't any "empire" exactly, but we have a republic worth defending. Some of our loose billions might be well spent in that direction.

Arthur Brisbane Ignoring some Italian friction, the king went on to say, "My relations with foreign powers continue friendly."

Mentioning the Italian misunderstanding, he said: "My government will continue to exert their influence in favor of peace." If it does, peace will come.

RED CROSS HIGHWAY
POSTS AID INJURED

1,000 Function At Key Points To Give Emergency Care To Traffic Hurt

Highway first aid stations, set up by the Red Cross to give emergency care to victims of traffic accidents, are saving lives, according to James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations.

"More than 1,000 of our emergency posts are already operating in 47 states and thousands of others will soon be established at key points along America's highways," Mr. Fieser stated.

The Red Cross highway posts are concentrated at danger spots in rural areas where medical aid is not readily available. The importance of this coverage of the open road, the Red Cross holds, is given sharper emphasis by the fact that there has been a 150 per cent increase in rural traffic fatalities during the past twelve years.

The project was initiated last year on a national scale as a practical approach to the highway accident problem. The Red Cross felt that it could best apply its strength by succoring those who continue to be injured pending a reduction in the highway accident rate through legislation and safety education.

"Our program brings first aid skill to the scene of accident in an effort to reduce the number of persons killed and maimed in automobile mishaps," Mr. Fieser said. "Our highway first aiders are not medical men in any sense, but it is their job to turn the injured over to the medical profession in the best shape possible."

The Red Cross highway posts are established at gasoline service stations, tourist homes, rural police and fire departments. The personnel of the posts are trained by the Red Cross in first aid, standard first aid equipment is installed at each station, and identifying signs for the benefit of motorists are erected beside the highway at both approaches to the station.

The attendants of these roadside units who qualify as first aiders volunteer their services through the Red Cross and may under no circumstances accept pay for caring for the injured.

To complement the highway first aid stations, the Red Cross has announced formation of mobile units. Several thousand trucks which regularly ply the highway in the course of routine work will be equipped with first aid kits. Drivers and crews will take courses in both standard and advanced first aid, and each truck will be identified as a Red Cross mobile unit. More than a hundred trucks are already operating.

"The highway police of eight states who have finished first aid training will join this army mobilized to cut accident fatalities and prevent complication of minor injuries through mishandling at the scene of accident," Mr. Fieser said.

"We receive reports from our first aid stations daily, telling of essential care given to traffic casualties on the spot and of lives actually saved."

This and many other Red Cross programs of equal value are supported by the people of America during the annual Roll Call for members. This year the Roll Call will be held from November 11 to 26.

Thanksgiving—
An American Day

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Thanksgiving is recognized as one of the most characteristic and appropriate of all our American National Holidays.

Why? Probably because the American people, through the period of their nation's existence, have had more to be thankful for than the people of any other land.

Not in the material sense alone! The pioneers who celebrated our first Thanksgiving Day expressed gratitude not only for bountiful harvests, but also for the freedom with which Divine Providence had rewarded their courage and labors.

That spirit endures. Every Presidential proclamation of a Day of National Thanksgiving has sounded the same note of reverence.

Thus, through the years, Thanksgiving Day has become not only a national expression of gratitude, but a rededication to the spirit which lived in its strong and valiant founders.

The seeds of freedom sown by them have borne a harvest more bountiful than their own crops. Our reasons for national gratitude have grown—not diminished.

They gave thanks for fruitful harvests; we for a bountiful supply not only of the necessities of life, but of comforts far beyond their modest aspirations.

They gave thanks for liberty to worship as they chose. We give thanks not only for freedom of religion, but for freedom of speech and of action and of opportunity as well.

Many nations cannot do this today. The iron hand of Dictatorship or the red light of Communism; the terrors of war, from without or within—all have robbed them of the security and the liberties which our fathers established as an American birthright.

Our duty is not limited to appreciation, however grateful, of these blessings. It involves their preservation as well.

The Title "Esquire"

The title "esquire" comes from the Latin through old French. It was derived from escu, a word now spelled ecu, which means a shield. The title esquire was given to a shield bearer or an attendant of a knight.

about:

Us Present-Day Sissies.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—Our ancestors, the men and women who whittled this country out of ramping wilderness—they were different, although perhaps difficult to get along with. They'd fight you over almost any issue—their personal rights, their public wrongs, their national principles, their private prejudices, their outer boundaries, their internal policies. They fought one another; they fought foreign powers. But, excusing politicians and professional whiners, they didn't do such an awful lot of fretting over the painfully primitive conditions of a pioneering life. We, their children, with too many laws we won't enforce, too many criminals we won't punish, too many unjust taxes we won't rebel against—we complain about everything. It's as though a race of eagles bred a breed of worms that turn only to turn the other cheek. I guess we're getting peevishly flabby.

Irvin S. Cobb.

I woke up this morning feeling as flabby as a cold flapjack, and I don't know when I've been peevish. So I sat down and wrote this.

N.B.—And never mind telling me that a worm hasn't any cheek. I know that as well as you do.

Van Sweringen's Passing.

GRANTED, that in these shifting times there is a somewhat prevalent tendency to regard it this way and be governed accordingly: for a man to have been a success is a crime, but to have been a failure is a profession.

Even so, there's still a thrill, reading of the career of M. J. Van Sweringen. Horatio Alger might have written him. He starts life as a newsboy in Cleveland. Today, at fifty-four, he lies dead there.

How many millions he left, nobody knows. Probably he didn't much care. It must have been the sport and not the size of the game-bag that made him a dominant figure in railroading and finance.

That's one side of the American picture. The other side is that almost every one of us knows, or has heard, of a former reputed millionaire who'd like to get a good job somewhere selling newspapers.

The Source of an Idea.

I RAN across it the other day—this ancient one.

Shipwrecked mariners in crisis. Sea rising, life raft sinking beneath them, no rescue craft in sight. Situation seems to call for professions of faith. But nobody can quote from the Scriptures, nobody can sing a hymn, nobody even knows a prayer. Desperately, the mate speaks up: "Men, we gotta do somethin' pious—let's pass the hat."

I read that antique wheeze and in a flash the puzzle was solved. Now I know where they got the original idea—those economic wizards in and out of congress, who, in times like these, bob up with various theories, but all aimed at the same purpose; namely, that financial security can be restored not by giving industry a chance to recuperate, but by taking away the previous fruits of industry.

Hollywood's Newest Grievance.

HOLLYWOOD sentiment is that those alleged polygamists recently on trial over at Kingman, in Arizona, should be penalized for breaking the rules. You see, the curious colony up there in the desert favors having a lot of wives all at once, whereas the Hollywood championship team prefers various wives, one at a time, which prevents confusion and works out to the same gratifying high scores in the end.

But no matter how the law may serve those Arizona husbands, I would put in a plea for the female co-defendants charged with marrying 'em so copiously. For I've just seen some newspaper pictures of the male prisoners. Gentlemen of the jury, if they be true likenesses, those poor near-sighted women already have suffered enough. Talk about being more sinned against than sinning.

That Banker's Identity.

IF THE President won't name him, I shan't. But I'll bet anything—anything I have left, I mean—that the distinguished banker who told him this country could safely go in debt for quite a lot more billions is the same financial wizard who counseled me about my dainty little investments in the blithe, braw days before 1929. It certainly sounds like the same fellow.

On second thought, maybe not. Because the last I heard of my banker, he was sitting by the steam-pipes at a county poor-farm back East, telling the other inmates about an infallible system for beating those stock market boys. You see, he was sicker enough to follow his own advice. Can you imagine?

THE RATS PLAN TO KILL BILLY MINK

IT HAVING been agreed by all the rats in the big barn that they would stand by one another, and the next time Billy Mink appeared would all attack him at once, they immediately began to feel better. Only the oldest ones shook their heads doubtfully and continued to look worried. The younger ones boasted. Had they not driven away the cat which the farmer had put in the barn to catch them? And was not the cat very much bigger than this new enemy? They began to talk among themselves of the fun they would have when Billy Mink should next appear.

"I'm Not Afraid," Said One.

"I'm not afraid," said one.

"Nor I," cried another. And all the rest of the young rats boasted in the same way.

But the gray, old leader still shook his head and looked worried. "It is all very well for you to brag of what you will do," said he, "but bragging never yet won a battle. If we would keep our homes here in this big barn where many of you have spent your lives, we must make our plans to kill this terrible enemy. It will not do to simply drive him away, for he might return when least expected. Always there must be two or three on watch. The instant that mink appears warning must be given, and then all of us fall on him at once."

"As I told you before, the best fighter among us would be helpless if he had to face that fellow alone, but if we all attack him together there will be nothing to fear."

So certain of the sharpest-eyed rats were appointed to watch all

All the others scattered to their homes. Some lived under the barn, some lived on the main floor of the barn, and some lived in the hay loft. The old rats were still worried, but the younger ones were filled with pleasant excitement. They rather hoped that Billy Mink would come soon. They wanted to show how brave they could be. Not a doubt crept into the mind of one of them that all would end as they had planned.

Meanwhile Billy Mink was comfortably dreaming in the little chamber he had chosen under the big woodpile between the big barn and the henhouse. Billy's dreams were pleasant dreams. That is, they were pleasant dreams for him. He dreamed he was hunting rats. Yes, they were very pleasant dreams for Billy. But had any of the rats in the big barn had those dreams they

FOOD FOR THE FUSSY

THERE are grown-ups who are fussy about their food, but sometimes they are hopeless; however with children a firm hand and eternal vigilance will accomplish wonders. Children are naturally imaginative and keenly enjoy a fairy tale, no matter what it is about. Why not use this method in teaching him to eat the things he should. Every woman should be a good story teller, able to picture interesting things out of the ordinary. With really ill people in bed, one may use about the same story for even grown ups, they get pleasure out of the things that the child will, if presented in a whimsical manner.

A dish of floating island, so good for children who will not eat custards and refuse milk, may be presented in a glass dish with the cooked white of eggs on top. It may be a treasure island, an iceberg with a "nut" to be rescued or a raisin will do. If it is not real enough make legs and arms of cloves, a head of a large clove. The rescuer will eat his way to being a hero.

Floating Island.

This old-fashioned dish of our grandmother's day will never go out of style, for it is so wholesome and good as well as pretty. To prepare the custard take three egg yolks, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, a pinch of salt, one and one-half cupfuls of scalded milk and when cooked until it coats the spoon add one-half tea-

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

IT'S a good old rule and it's good to follow,
Not to call it spring just because one swallow
Has ventured north when the wind was blowing
In a way no swallow has of knowing.
It's a good old rule not to count your chickens
And be disappointed as the dickens,
Not to be too sure, or be sure too early,
In this strange old world, with its hurly-burly.

But a much worse way is to look behind you,
Ev'ry day that dawns, ev'ry path you find you,
When you see some sign that the winter's leaving
To shake your head and insist on grieving.

The chicks may hatch and may not be many,
But some declare that there won't be any.
Yet to doubt all eggs, and to doubt all seasons,
Is a much worse rule, and for much worse reasons.

For, as for me, I would rather follow
The first spring song of some foolish swallow
And count some chick, though it never hatches,
Than to think this life is all rags and patches.

I'd rather think that the winter's over
Than to wait too long and to miss the clover.
If I am wrong, on a dark or bright way,
Then I prefer to be wrong the right way.

Tall and Funny

Fall and winter millinery modes as decreed in Paris seem rather eccentric to conservative folk, and are even described as tall and funny. Here is a creation by Rose Valois, called the "Vizir," in black silky felt, with a double velvet ribbon in various colors ending with a silver lame spiral.

Esther Is a Jill of Many Trades

MAYBE the Jack-of-all-trades is always a man, but Esther Burg of Brooklyn, N. Y., can make quite a showing as locksmith, electrician and mechanic. Her forte, however, is key-making, at which she shines brilliantly. She is shown here at work in her father's store.

Tax-Free Bonds

A section of the federal code states that except as otherwise provided by law, all stocks, bonds, treasury notes and other obligations of the United States shall be exempt from taxation by or under state or municipal or local authority. The specific act for the issuance of the government bonds in almost every case exempts such bonds also from taxation by the United States. Some federal securities, however, are exempt only from the normal income tax.—Detroit News.

How Many Pennies Your Child's Life?

Don't Try to "Save" on Home Remedies—Ask Your Doctor

There is one point, on which practically all doctors agree. That is: Don't give your child unknown remedies without asking your doctor first.

All mothers know this. But sometimes the instinct to save a few pennies by buying "something just as good" overcomes caution.

When it comes to the widely used children's remedy—"milk of magnesia"—many doctors for over half a century have said "PHILLIPS." For Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is the standard of the world. Safe for children.

Keep this in mind, and say "PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA" when you buy. Comes now, also in tablet form. Get the form you prefer. But see that what you get is labeled "Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia." 25¢ for a big box of the tablets at drug stores.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

A CANDIDATE "ANNOUNCES"

ON THE morning of April 4, 1900, the New York World printed what has been described as "one of the most curious announcements of a presidential candidacy ever made, one of the most naive declarations ever given out by any man who had even the briefest parts in American politics."

Admiral George Dewey, the "Hero of Manila," had given an interview in which he said in part: "If the American people want me for this high office, I shall be only too willing to serve them. . . . Since studying this subject I am convinced that the office of the President is not such a very difficult one to fill, his duties being mainly to execute the laws of Congress. Should I be chosen for this exalted position I would execute the laws of Congress as faithfully as I have always executed the orders of my superior."

"Not such a difficult office to fill," indeed! That was a jolt to the hero-worshipping American public. Already it had begun to suspect that its idol had feet of clay. It had gone wild over his victory in the Philippines. Upon his return to America, it gave him the reception such as few conquering heroes had. It had built a triumphal arch in his honor in New York and had raised money to buy a house in Washington for him. Not long after his return, he had taken a second wife who was much younger than he was and he had deeded the gift house to her. That didn't sit so well with his worshippers, nor did the social ambitions of his new wife. Moreover, a matter of religious prejudice was injected into the gossip about the Deweys.

Dewey had been approached on the subject of being a candidate for President and had disclaimed any such ambition. But a "Stop Bryan!" element in the Democratic party had persisted in promoting his candidacy and at last he yielded to the temptation.

Then he made his amazing announcement and the public immediately turned against him. Where he had been previously praised, he was now ridiculed. His candidacy was generally characterized as the "climax to a series of unfortunate mistakes." As quickly as that candidacy had blossomed, it withered. America apparently would elect a military hero President, as witness William Henry Harrison, Zachary Taylor and Ulysses S. Grant. But, as for a naval hero, George Dewey was the first, and so far, the last, to find out that a sea dog isn't wanted in the White House!

A STURDY CAMPAIGNER

THERE is a physical side to this business of campaigning for the presidency.

In the earlier days, candidates went personally into the hinterlands, making, not one-night stands but brief pauses interrupted to move on to a newer and perhaps more fertile field. It was a tremendous strain on them physically.

Today, with improved travel accommodations and the help of radio, campaigning is not the arduous task of former years, but it has its moments.

William Jennings Bryan, torch bearer of extraordinary record in politics, doubtless is the man who proved the sturdiest campaigner of them all. And even he almost broke down.

Bryan was physically fit and energetic when he first stumped the country in 1896, bearing his cross of gold. He insisted on patronizing the local trains, riding in the day coaches at the outset of his tour.

In that campaign, Bryan delivered as many as 20 speeches a day, a great part of them from the rear of his slow-moving train. In Tennessee his throat began to balk. When this was known, many curatives were pressed upon him. One bottle of a remedy for hoarseness was tested by Benton McMillen of Tennessee and found to contain a caustic fluid which might have injured Bryan permanently.

It was toward the end of that campaign that Bryan began to approach exhaustion. He had completed a three-days' series of speeches in Chicago. Despite his splendid physique, the strain began to tell. He was scheduled to travel north of Chicago when his "loop" engagements were ended. But so trying had been the requirements of his tour that it was necessary to delay the start of the party for more than two hours.

Earliest Settlements

Newport and Portsmouth share with Providence the distinction of being the earliest settlements. After Roger Williams settled at Providence in 1636 another band of religious "outcasts" from Massachusetts, under the leadership of William Coddington and Anne Hutchinson, settled at Portsmouth in 1638. When dissension broke out in this colony William Coddington and a group moved on to Newport in 1639.

Poor Soil Needs Proper Treatment

Land That Produces Lowest Yields Found to Respond to Building-Up.

Supplied by the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.—WNU Service.

Those soils which produce the lowest yields without treatment make the best response to soil-building practices, according to a bulletin, "Crop Yields from Illinois Soil Experiment Fields," published by the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

"With the less productive soils, the increased yield from treatment was several times as great as the yield obtained without treatment," the bulletin states. "However, on the more productive soils yields from the plots without treatment were several times as great as any increase that could be attributed to soil treatment."

"Despite this fact, on each field there was found at least one practice that raised the efficiency of production enough to pay for the treatment."

"Whether the crop-producing capacity of the less productive soils can be raised to the present productive levels of the better soils seems doubtful. The gray and yellow soils after 25 years have potential levels only about one-half the level of the better untreated soils."

Since 1876 when the Morrow plots, oldest soil experiment field in America, were established, the College of Agriculture has been studying the soils of the state to learn practices which would bring about more efficient production, lower the cost of production, improve the quality of crops on the soil and maintain soil fertility.

With the Morrow plots located on the grounds of the agricultural college at Urbana, a number of outlying fields have since been established throughout the state to study soil types in each section. During the past year's crop season, 26 permanent fields were in operation.

New Interest Is Taken in Jerusalem Artichokes

A new interest is being taken in Jerusalem artichokes as a source of material for the manufacture of sugar and alcohol, states a writer in the Chicago Tribune. The tubers of this old crop have been used for human food and live stock feed. For many years they have been regarded as a good feed for hogs. The leaves and stems have been cut while still green and cured as a forage for dairy cows, sheep, and goats. It is significant that while highly praised as a feed and food, as well as a source of carbohydrates used in the chemical industry, the Jerusalem artichoke is not commonly grown in a community for any great length of time.

In some eastern sections this crop is reported to have yielded eight tons or more an acre. Crop experts in Illinois report the Jerusalem artichoke yielding an average of sixteen tons or more an acre.

Pigs fed on artichokes along with wheat and oats have made good gains. Sometimes pigs are turned into a patch or field and allowed to root up the tubers and eat them along with supplementary feeds. Pigs have been found to make little gain when fed on artichokes alone.

Battling Weeds

If anything is to be accomplished in coping with the weed problem, it must be done by attacking the fundamental causes of the situation. The use of clean seed to prevent the introduction of new weeds and stop the spread of those already present must be practiced, says the Rural New-Yorker. The land must be kept in a good state of fertility to make conditions favorable for crop growth. Lastly, every possible method of weed killing should be practiced. Weed control is a year-around job starting in the fall by cleaning up waste places, cleaning and selecting seed during the winter, clipping, spraying and cultivation during the growing season.

Navicular Disease

Navicular disease is very difficult to treat successfully. Its location within the hoof makes its treatment hard to administer. The sesamoid sheath becomes inflamed and the navicular bone is involved. It occurs in the front feet, usually only one being affected. A horse may seem lame at first and after exercise the lameness disappears. If lame in both feet the gait is stiff. The front shoe shows most wear at the toe as a result of putting the foot down toe first to favor the tender parts. Blister and rest are about the only treatments, and they give only temporary relief.—Rural New-Yorker.

"Green Wrap" Tomatoes

Since the tomato season in any locality lasts but a few weeks most consumers who insist on the "fresh" vegetable the year round get what is known to the trade as the "green wrap" (tomatoes that are held in storage and ripened) about eight months out of the year. This business of picking green and ripening on the way to the consumer has become a well developed and highly successful business, according to an authority.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted By WILLIAM BRUCKART
NATIONAL PRESS BLDG. WASHINGTON, D. C.

Washington.—There is an "era of good feeling" going the rounds that is quite different than anything we have had since early in 1929. It is being promoted with a great deal of enthusiasm and present results as well as indications justify the promotion work that is going on in the New Deal press agent circles.

Era of Good Feeling

This era of good feeling is quite an interesting thing from another angle, namely, politics. It is being used by the politicians again to establish President Roosevelt in the same situation as he found himself at the beginning of his first term in the White House. I am afraid he is being built up again as a superman and, in politics, a superman or his position is hard to maintain in the public mind.

Business also is indulging in this era of good feeling. Business always puts its best foot forward, just as lovers do. It wants to develop a spirit of good will on the part of the public and it wants to show its financial backers how things are coming along all hunky-dory. There is nothing wrong in the attitude. It is perfectly logical and human—and it is very interesting to see this wave of healthy feeling grow.

The important, as well as the interesting, thing about this era of good feeling is that to the expert students it shows a gradual, if not conclusive, decline in depression conditions. It proves that things are on the up grade—not that they are at the top yet, but that a momentum is being established which may carry the economic recovery to the top if the federal government settles down and treats business with fairness.

As I said above, New Deal press agents are promoting this business recovery for all that it is worth. Naturally, they are attributing it to the re-election of Mr. Roosevelt as the basic factor in this upward surge of business. They are capitalizing it to the fullest because by so capitalizing it, the political party in power gets its due share of credit. There is no doubt that they will continue on this course because everyone likes to read or hear about improved business conditions, restoration of dividend payments, increasing volume of traffic, any and all things that show the nation is slowly but surely getting back on its economic feet.

While the New Dealers are shouting from the housetops how President Roosevelt has accomplished all of these things, there comes a discordant note from business itself. Business leaders, just like politicians, want credit for whatever is accomplished, whether they are responsible or someone else. They do not care any more than politicians whether the credit properly is theirs. It is simply an exposition of the vain, glorious trait that seems to exist in nearly everyone.

Business Is Seeking to Show that It Is Pulling Itself Together, Opening New Factories, Raising Wages, in Spite of New Deal Policies with the Handicaps that Some of Those Policies Include. So, business is seeking to counterbalance the politicians and the politicians, speaking through New Deal press statements, are trying to fortify their own position as saviors of the country. Neither one is correct. Without doing too much debunking, I believe it ought to be said that President Roosevelt and his associates have executed some government policies that have been helpful to the business structure. With equal frankness, it ought to be said that business leaders have taken the bull by the horns and have proceeded to help materially in putting commerce and industry back on the right track again. Neither one ought to take too much credit. Some credit is due each but neither one nor both together is entitled to claim all of the credit for the recovery of business that is now underway.

The answer to the upward swing of business lies chiefly in the fact that the depression has worn itself out. It would have worn itself out just the same whether the administration was New Deal or Republican. It would have accomplished just as much in the way of expanded buying power and increased production whether Mr. Roosevelt was re-elected or whether he had been defeated and Governor Landon of Kansas had been elected at the end of the recent national campaign.

I am reminded by this discussion of a remark that the late Eugene Black made while he was governor of the Federal Reserve board. On that occasion I asked him whether there were signs of the end of the depression. His reply was, "not yet." He added, however, that the depression would destroy itself as every other depression in history had done and that when this point of exhaustion had been reached, commerce and industry would take an upward swing. Then, he added with reference to some of the economic students of the administration in power: "It will wear itself out and good times will come back again—and every doggone professor and economic theorist in the world will try to claim credit for it."

So, I think it can be said without equivocation that if anybody or anything is entitled to credit for the indicated recovery movement, we had better be fair and admit it was a combination of circumstances, not the least of which was the natural law of supply and demand. It seems utterly silly to me for any individuals or groups of individuals to attempt to corral all of the praise.

Those who have access to the market pages of the great metropolitan daily newspapers must have been impressed by the rapid fire announcements coming from big industrial corporations of wage increases, bonuses for employees and melon cutting in the form of dividends for the shareholders. They must have been impressed, likewise, with the sharp rise in security prices that obviously has reflected the expanded business and increased earnings.

A prosperous nation may not always be a happy one but there is a certain psychology about a prosperous nation that makes it carefree. It is a psychology that makes the average man and woman forget to a large extent about the recent pinch of economic displacements and, as well, those same people are inclined to disregard and give no consideration to the morrow.

Let us look into those circumstances. When corporations or other forms of business have reasonable years in their particular lines, early in the winter they begin to see what the year's total will be. They can figure rather accurately what the returns will be in the last two months, say, after they have made their totals for the first ten months of the year. So, whenever they reach that stage in a reasonably successful year they can make their plans for distribution of the profits.

Now, we have a tremendously high tax rate on corporation surpluses and we have rather high tax rates on incomes of individuals. Corporations and other businesses, therefore, start figuring how to do the best they can with the earnings of the year. Some of them determine that their employees should share substantially in the profits of their labors; others want to distribute as much of these earnings as they may to their stockholders because such a showing creates a demand in the market for their shares and such a demand is influential in establishment of the corporation's credit for borrowing money if it needs to borrow from the banks. In either event, corporation managements obviously give considerations to the tax the corporation would have to pay and I think it is not a matter of condemnation for them to turn over as much of their profit as they can to those interested in the business instead of to a government which wastes so much.

To be perfectly fair, it must be said that the money now being distributed either in dividends or in bonuses to workers or in wage increases was earned before the recent election. Its distribution, however, is motivated largely on prospects for the future. In other words, those responsible for these distributions of earnings feel that they can let that money out of their hands. They may not be distributing all of the sums available but the "era of good feeling" is accepted by all of them as indicating the chances for continued earnings are bright.

I have merely touched on the effect of distribution of earnings among the holders of capital. It is just as important to consider the effect of distribution of these earnings on the laboring classes. Labor has been convinced under the American system for many years that it is entitled to some share of the profits from its products. Employers are taking that same view to a greater extent than anywhere else in the world. When labor gets bonuses or gets increases in its pay, there is a reaction among those workers who have sound judgment that prompts them to do the best they can on their jobs. That is to say, they become contented workers and they are less susceptible to the propaganda of radicals who seek to promote strikes and labor disturbances to further the ends of communism. That is a part of the era of good feeling as much as the added earnings of corporations or the enthusiasm of politicians over victory.

A big birthday cake climaxed a lovely supper of balloon sandwiches, cocoa and tomato juice. Among Shirley's presents were sixteen lumps of sugar, tied with ribbons. TALKING TURKEY

Of course you have to talk turkey on Thanksgiving—to the cook (even if it is yourself) so that she will do her best—to the children so that they will keep out from underfoot—and to your husband because—well, it's always a good plan to talk turkey to him when a big family dinner is on foot.

Keep the children out of doors in the morning and your husband and guests with them, if possible, so that they will all come in to dinner with keen appetites. And then serve them a good old-fashioned Thanksgiving collation something like this—

Sardine Points
Tomato and Lima Bean Soup
Roast Turkey Oyster Stuffing
Ciblet Gravy
Potato Croquettes
Creamed Bermuda Onions
Sweet Potatoes in Orange Cups
Frozen Cranberries
Chickory with French Dressing
Country Pumpkin Pie
Stem Raisins Coffee Mints

Tomato and Lima Bean Soup: To the contents of a No. 3 can tomatoes add one and a half cups brown stock, the liquor from a No. 1 can lima beans, sixteen peppercorns, eight allspice berries, one bay leaf, one slice onion, one-half teaspoon celery seed and salt to taste. Simmer twenty minutes, and then add three tablespoons butter which has been browned, had three tablespoons flour added and browned again. Stir well, then press all through a sieve. Add one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and more salt if necessary. Add the lima beans, and serve in cups with a few beans in each. Serves eight.

Cranberries and Dessert

Frozen Cranberries: Boil one-fourth cup sugar and three-fourths cup water to a syrup, and dissolve in it one-half tablespoon gelatin which has been soaked in two tablespoons cold water. Add two tablespoons lemon juice, one-half cup orange juice and the strained contents of a No. 2 can cranberry sauce which have been well mashed and put through a sieve. When cool, freeze to a mush, add one well-beaten egg white and continue freezing. Pack when done for several hours in ice and salt. Serves eight.

Country Pumpkin Pie: Smooth one-half cup cottage cheese, or pass through a sieve, then mix with one and a third cups canned pumpkin. Add two-thirds cup sugar mixed with two-thirds teaspoon salt, two-thirds teaspoon ginger, two-thirds teaspoon cinnamon and one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, two beaten eggs and one and a third cups milk. Heat in a double boiler and pour into a pie tin lined with pastry. Bake, having oven hot—450 degrees—for first ten minutes, then reduce to 325 degrees for remaining time—about thirty minutes or until knife comes out clean. Makes one pie.*
